

North Classroom April 10, 2008

The children were so interested in the wood working tools that Dave Randall, Ryan's dad brought in to our classroom today. When Dave asked "What is wood?" Riley answer "You cut down a tree and it's hard." Dave also showed us how to keep ourselves safe when working with such dangerous tools. He put on goggles, ear muffs, and gloves. We got to touch, see and smell cedar, pine and walnut woods.

Inspirations

Discoveries

We created wood sculptures during small groups. Riley and Keenan made some "guys". Riley's is on the left and Keenan's is on the right.

Explorations

Is it really April?

Camille, Seong-Gil and Brynley are playing outside in the snow. Marshall, Will, and Ryan threw snow into the puddle of water "to turn it into ice".
